letter from the editor

Palatine has once again enjoyed an impressive year for real estate sales. The average sales price for 2004 has risen an impressive 8.4% over 2003 sales. I believe these numbers reflect the continued desirability of our community.

In this issue, we are featuring five different properties, an exclusive interview with one of the top builders in Palatine (A Portrait of a Builder), statistics on recent Palatine home sales, and an article on the real estate history of 2004 and projection for 2005 (Where We've Been and Where We're Going).

Please enjoy this Winter issue of "Exclusively Palatine" Magazine.

Best Wishes,

4785 WOODCLIFF

SOUTH PALATINE/WEST ROLLING MEADOWS

New construction proves to be a “head turner” at 4785 Woodcliff in Rolling Meadows. This brick and cedar single family home greets you with a beautiful bay window, impressive foyer and oak floors throughout most of the first level.

You'll also find a gorgeous, gourmet kitchen inside that promises to live up to even the toughest of critics. Granite countertops, cherry wood cabinets and stainless steel appliances are just the beginning. Enjoy your first meal of the day at the breakfast bar, which is often draped with the morning sunshine. Or call the family down for a hot bowl of oatmeal and eat around the table.

On the second floor you'll find four bedrooms. All are carpeted, and all have a walk-in closet. However, the master bedroom is sure to take your breath away. It is almost as big as the kitchen! The extremely large walk-in closet is an obvious plus, but the master bath proves to be an even better bonus. Complete with whirlpool tub, walk in “rainforest” shower and double sinks, it’s sure to call your name on the most stressful of days.

The home also offers a spacious family room accented by a wood burning fireplace, a formal dining room, living room and den! Talk about space, you’ll never worry about running out of room here. And large families will never have trouble getting ready in the morning with two addition full bathrooms. There’s also a full basement with high ceilings, and the laundry room sits on the first level.

Mix all that with an extra large 3 car attached garage and this brand new home is sure to make you feel like all your hard work has finally paid off.

Portrait of a Builder

STEVE GALLO
BCI CONSTRUCTION

I recently met with Steve Gallo, owner of BCI Construction. Steve has built a number of homes throughout Palatine and Rolling Meadows. Here are some insights from a Builder's point-of-view.

Weaver – How many years have you been in construction?

Gallo – I've been in construction since 1974...rehabbing houses, townhomes, and condos. Actually, that's where I picked up a lot of the "tricks of the trade".

Weaver – What's the biggest challenge when building a home?

Gallo – My biggest obstacle is locating a prime piece of property.

Weaver – What gives you the greatest sense of satisfaction?

Gallo – I've been invited back to the house for dinner, by the new owners. I get to see how they've settled-in, and I get to meet the whole family. It's great!

Weaver – What features are consistent in the homes you build?

Gallo – Hardwood floors, 9 foot ceilings, granite counters, 3+ car garage, Open floor plans, spacious Master Baths, and lots of closets.

Weaver – What custom features do Buyers ask for?

Gallo – Fireplace finishing, crown moldings, finished basement, enlarged decks.

Weaver – Is there any land left in Palatine?

Gallo – It's getting to be properties that have "considerations", or push-downs. That's pretty much all that's left.

Weaver – What's the outlook for 2005?

Gallo – Excellent! I've got 2 lots banked already, and one under construction in "Groh's Green".

Weaver – Thanks, Steve! Besides being an excellent Builder, you're a good person.

Steve Gallo built the homes that are featured on pages 2, 3 and 5.

P A L A T I N E

The street name alone makes you want to learn more. A feeling of warmth and comfort overwhelms you after the fireplace and thick rich carpeting greets you in the family room.

Beautiful French doors lead you into the living room, which is decorated with bayed windows and crown molding.

Large formal parties will never be too much to handle thanks to a separate dining room, which also has crown molding and a chair rail.

The huge kitchen has many outstanding features including new stainless steel appliances and an island with a breakfast bar. There's also plenty of room for your table and chairs, complete with a view of the backyard. Sliding glass doors lead you to the patio.

You'll find all four bedrooms upstairs. The master bedroom has vaulted ceilings, a large walk-in closet and room for a study! The master bath is just as impressive featuring a garden tub, separate shower and dual sinks.

The tour is completed with a trip downstairs to the big, full basement. Here you'll find every great entertainer's dream, a recreational room with a bar! There's even plenty of space for a fifth bedroom or study.

A 2 1/2 car attached garage and first floor laundry room are standard features many homeowners look for, and 429 Abbey Hill Lane will not disappoint you. From the moment you pull into the driveway you're sure to be pleased, and you can walk to Fremd High School.

Call to make an appointment, and we'll work on making it yours!

2004-2005 Real Estate Sales Info

Where We've Been & Where We're Going

The National Association of Realtors recent survey profiling Buyers and Sellers offers plenty of “eyebrow raising” interest.

- * The average repeat Buyer searched seven weeks and walked through ten houses.
- * One in five Buyers purchased a new home.
- * Over half of Buyers (53%) used the internet frequently during their search and 90% reported using a real estate agent. Interestingly, internet searchers were more likely to use a real estate agent than those who did not use the internet to find a home.
- * The typical Sellers owned their home for six years before selling, and 55% purchased a bigger home than the one they sold this year.
- * The housing market, especially the second and vacation home sector, is poised for yet more growth.
- * There has been a record level of new homes springing out of the ground like weeds wherever builders can muster entitlements.
- * Homeowners in the past decade have enjoyed not just a roof over their heads, but an investment yielding spectacular returns far beyond those from stock market portfolios, retirement funds, and other investments.
- * Optimistic analysts say interest rates won't rise quickly and that will sustain the housing market.
- * Affluent baby boomers are less vulnerable to the repercussion of raising interest rates. Many have already diversified, into the second home market, and they've been snatching up smaller, less expensive homes nearer urban and resort centers at such a pace, many areas have become exclusive enclaves where locals have difficulty buying. Boomers will also pad their equity with income from the new lite-work lifestyles of today's aging Americans, who put off retirement, or take the part-time work route.

The housing market appears to be in a solid supply/demand balance for 2005.
